Easter, derived from a Saxon word meaning to rise, is the name given to the festival which commemorates the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead. It is always held on the Sunday after the full moon which immediately succeeds the 21st day of March, the vernal equinox. The occurrence of Easter Sunday regulates all the movable feasts of the year. It cannot be earlier than the 22d of March, nor later than the 25th of April.

Easter was anciently called the Great Day, the Feast of Feasts, and the Queen of Feasts.

The Standard of Ministerial Education.

A consciousness prevails in our Church that the standard of ministerial education is steadily regaining its level. There never was a time in the history of the Lutheran Church when a high degree of training was decried or undervalued. Nevertheless, it is known that a pressure of circumstances has had the effect, in our own country, to plead for too many special cases as exceptions. The spirit of our day is urging men to expedite matters, and to take a "short-cut" toward every position in life; the lax usage of some neighboring denominations has not been without its unhappy effect; to which must be added the earnest cry of congregations for ministers, together with a frequent lack of adequate means for preparation on the part of candidates for the holy office. Such considerations have induced young men in the course of study, as well as the Synods, to yield.

Then look at the result. The expected perfecting in theological culture, after entering laborious parishes, has rarely been attained. Men prematurely inducted into the ranks of the Christian ministry have frequently found themselves floundering along through their entire period of pastoral labor, greatly to their own discomfort and chagrin; congregations have seldom realized what they had hoped for; and Synods have had sufficient reason to repent of their leniency.

Blame has been laid upon different agencies, and perhaps not unjustly. But, after all, the great responsibility lies at the door of Synods—the minister-making power. Friends may advise young men, individual ministers may remonstrate, our theological professors may urge and plead; yet if it remains understood that the Synods are willing to smile inordinately upon exceptional cases, then will the Synods themselves hold out a standing temptation to premature applications, and only invite to themselves, from year to year, perplexity and mortification.

Let the proper standard be held in our Synods; not in one or a few only, but in all. Let the case of persons who are worthy exceptions be exceptions indeed. Let there be no hope left that men who cannot stand the test of one Synod, can go elsewhere and slip through the door of another. Then will candidates study with less annoyance from distracting and counteracting influences. They will go on patiently and hopefully, preparing themselves to meet the requisitions of the inspired rule: "Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." Just such preparation is needed, fully to meet the wants of an age in which popular education is making wonderful advances; to beat down the citadel of every error set up by the cunning of men and the malice of Satan; and to aid, with greater success, in extending the kingdom of our Lord Jesus Christ in the earth.—S.

A Prayer to the Crucified Saviour.

We adore Thy perfect love, O merciful Saviour, which humbled Thee even to the cross, that Thou mightest exalt us to the throne of God. Eternally praised be Thy holy name, O blessed Jesus, that for us rebels and outlaws Thou didst vouchsafe to become a curse on the cross, that the great copious stream of divine blessings might flow upon us. Be Thou forever praised who didst condescend to be raised on the cross, as the great antitype of the brazen serpent which was lifted up in the desert, that all who look on Thee in faith may be healed, and live. O fulfill in us all that comforting promise, that after Thy exaltation Thou wouldst draw all men unto Thee! Draw to Thy cross the carnal, the secure, and the unclean; and convince them that, without crucifying their lusts, they can have no share in the blessings which Thou didst procure by Thy crucifixion. Draw to Thy cross the troubled, anxious, and timorous consciences, and heal them by the salutary sight of Thy sufferings. Draw to Thy cross the true disciples, and grant that they may more and more increase in grace and wisdom, and in the knowledge of Thee. O gather together all those who are scattered abroad, far from Thee and the light of Thy gospel, and embrace them with the arms of Thy mercy. Amen.—Dr. J. Rambach, from Meditations.

Home Mission Work.

It has an intrinsic merit that, of course, we do not overlook. It has a wider sphere than the gathering together and spiritual culture of those of our own ecclesiastical household. It contemplates all the great ends of the gospel. It is the carrying forward of what Jesus commissioned the disciples to do. Its blessed design is the spread of the gospel, and the salvation of the perishing in our land. May it not be that we have looked upon this work too much in a selfish sectarian light, as having exclusive reference to those who bear our name, who, by reason of change of residence, have gone beyond our boundary? There is a vastly higher design than this: it is the lifting up of the cross before those who are perishing for lack of knowledge; and where this great end is not realized, the work of true evangelization is not being accomplished.—Rev. M. Rhodes.

ANOTHER MONUMENT TO LUTHER.—Martin Luther was born in Eisleben, Saxony, November 10th, 1483, and died in the same place, February 18th, 1546. The house in which he was born is still standing, as also the church from which he was buried. An association has been formed in Germany for the purpose of erecting a monument to his memory in the old town, and a letter from Dr. Dorner to Dr. Conrad, of Philadelphia, calls the attention of Lutherans in this country to the effort, and invites their participation in it,

Attend Your Own Church.

Sometimes we find church-members who, from curiosity or other motives, not unfrequently attend other churches at the time of service in their own. In most such instances no good excuse could be given.

Our church is our religious home; and home should have our preference above all other places. If our love is not perverted, it will, like a true instinct, ever draw us first of all toward our spiritual home as well as our natural home.

Ordinarily, duty points us to our own church. A habit of running hither and thither must cause spiritual dissipation. We shall in more than one way wrong our own hearts. Moreover, our example cannot have due weight. At our own church, where we should be regularly expected, our example will most loudly speak. At other places, where we are not expected, or perhaps little known, we may get the credit for little else than itching ears.

Still further, it is to your spiritual home that you especially owe your powers for doing good. The strength and prosperity of your church must depend, instrumentally, upon its members. There you owe your labor, your presence, your manifested interest. Your own family look to you. Some young or weak fellow church-member may, because of your wandering, be discouraged or learn likewise to wander. Your pastor's heart will grow heavy and his hands will be weakened. Wrong must ever beget wrong. Go to your own church when its doors are open.—S.

Early Training in Piety.

As a child is taught to speak, so should he be taught to pray by his mother, and so soon as he can utter his first words to man should his mother lead him to speak to God. Convinced that a child's words reach the heart of God, she will reverently fulfill this maternal duty. When she is making her child say his morning and evening prayer, she is performing a no less sacred and sublime office than the minister of Christ, when, standing at the altar, he sends up to God the prayers of the Church. When story-telling and the earliest instructions begin, the mother should not delay to tell the child stories from the Bible, and especially from the history of the Saviour, in that childish language which none so well understand as a mother. Who can sufficiently pity those parents who suffer themselves to be deprived of so pure a joy as giving to their child the first tidings of his Redeemer, and witnessing the first fresh deep impression made upon a childish mind by these tidings? There is nothing in the world that can compare in the wealth of moral elements of education, and of deepest truths under forms most easy of apprehension, with what we possess for our children in the Bible history.—Thiersch.

Doing Good.

The sphere of usefulness to which we are summoned is limited only by the extent of our ability. Certainly, God has not prescribed a limit, either in His word or by general consequences. The command to do good is restricted, on the one hand, only by our own power, and, on the other, by the necessities and wants which surround us. No embargo has been laid upon age, sex, condition, climate, country or color. Far as the wants of man extend, so far extends the benevolence of our Father in heaven, and so far and to so many particulars should our benevolence extend. If the inquiry be made, in what form and in what direction shall we do good? The reply is, in every form and direction which the occasion requires, both for the soul and the body. Some persons conceive that they can be more useful in one place, and in one form of activity, than in another. Let every one be fully persuaded in his own mind, and be certain that he is animated by the spirit of his Divine Master. As the followers of Christ, members of His body, animated by His spirit, the object at which we should aim is the same which brought Him down from heaven to earth—the salvation of the soul. Everything which contributes to the attainment of this end is of the first importance, and should claim the first and undivided attention.—H. L. Baugher, D. D.

Wills.

Many Christians, after giving liberally to the Lord during the time of their active life in the world, still further remember the various objects of benevolence when they come to make final disposition of their property in giving form to their last will and testament. We have in our Church many such objects, which are loudly calling for the exercise of liberality. Among them are our Colleges and Theological Seminaries, and our Boards of Home and Foreign Missions, Church Extension, Publication, the Education Society, etc., etc. Here is abundant room for thousands upon thousands of the means which have been put into the hands of Christ's people. Dear Christian friends, make this a subject of sincere and fervent prayer, that you may be rightly directed as your Lord's stewards. And yet one more hint. Some persons have been known not to have exercised proper precaution when making their wills. They have failed to insert the real or corporate names of institutions, boards, etc. Be always careful to secure the exact, lawful name from some officer or other competent person. Such care will secure your property against danger of mistake or diversion.—S.

ICELAND.—The one-thousandth anniversary of the settlement of Iceland was celebrated on the 2nd day of August, 1874. Religious services were held with reference to the occasion in the three hundred Lutheran churches of the island.

True Wisdom.

Count Axel Oxenstierna was the Chancellor of Sweden under the great king Gustavus Adolphus. He managed the government while the king was abroad in Germany subduing the enemies of religious liberty. When the king's death occurred, the direction of the affairs of state was chiefly placed in his hands until Christina should arrive at a proper age to be crowned. Oxenstierna was not only a wise statesman, but a sincere Christian. He did much to advance the cause of true religion. On one occasion he thus addressed Mr. Whitelock, an English ambassador:

"You are now in the prime of your age and vigor, and in great favor and business; but all this will leave you, and you will one day better understand and relish what I say. You will then find that there is more wisdom, truth, comfort, and pleasure in retiring and in turning your heart from the world to the Spirit of God, and in reading the Bible, than in all the courts and favors of princes."

The Sunday-School.

This blessed cause is awakening increased interest among Christians from year to year. In our own Church there is far more time given to it than formerly in our Synods. In our General Synod, amidst all the pressing duties, it has now cheerfully accorded to it a portion of the precious time. A number of conventions have been held in our Church, within the past year or two, for the purpose of giving special consideration to this department of Christian interest. Besides these gatherings of a more local kind, two general, or national, Lutheran Sunday-School Conventions have been held since the last meeting of the General Synod. The first of these assembled at Bucyrus, Ohio, in November, 1873; and the second at Johnstown, Pennsylvania, in October, 1874. Both these meetings were largely attended by pastors, teachers, and friends. The addresses, essays and discussions were highly instructive. God will add His blessing.—S.

NOTHING TO SPARE.—The fine weather of Sabbath last brought out a large attendance at the city churches, notwithstanding the numbers who have fled to the mountains and the sea. Among those who worshipped at Circular Square was Mrs. Worthington Ryce, whose dress was universally admired. It consisted chiefly of a neat black and white fine-striped summer silk (28 yards at $1.25), trimmed with black lace (18½ yards at $1.62); a lovely bonnet by Mixer ($38 without the flowers, which were left over from last year); and a brooch, with ear-drops to match, of very rich but chaste design ($90). The sermon was in behalf of foreign missions, and Mrs. Ryce weighted the contribution-box when it passed her pew with a fifteen cent scrip. It was all she felt she could afford.—Congregationalist.

Life Everlasting.

As eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man the things which God hath prepared for them that love Him, no one can adequately express, in the language of mortals, the nature of everlasting life. It is enough for us to believe that everlasting life is inexpressible bliss, with which God will eternally bless and glorify the faithful, that they with all the angels may eternally live in Him, and, triumphing over the miseries of the world, may love God without weariness, worship Him without satiety, and behold Him without end.—Dr. L. Hutter, d. 1616.

Love to God.

Our love to God, through Christ, sanctifies all other loves, as the conjugal, the filial, the parental, the love of country; because it strips off from the merely human all selfishness, and gratefully recognizes in all the blessings of life the highest good. It sanctifies every station, from that of the peasant to that of the king, as well pleasing to God, and moves every one to right actions in the calling which God gives him, and in the position he occupies; be that station high or low, be it one of rank or of poverty. It nerves him to good works—acts which shall receive, from the paternal goodness of God, their promised reward. These are the proper good works, the works of new obedience, which are the consequences of justifying faith. They are the good fruit of the noble tree.—Dr. Ernest Sartorius.

Religions of the World.

It is difficult to be accurate in figures of this kind, but we can try to approximate. According to the latest estimates, we present the following populations:—

Counted as Christians.

Protestants (of whom from 40,000,000 to 50,000,000 are Lutherans).....	106,000,000
Greeks (or Greek Church).....	82,000,000
Romanists.....	201,000,000
	389,000,000

Others.

Jews.....	10,000,000
Mohammedans.....	160,000,000
Pagans.....	818,000,000

Population of the World.....1,377,000,000

PARENTAL EXAMPLE.—Every parent is like a looking-glass for his children to dress themselves by. Therefore, parents should take care to keep the glass bright and clear, not dull and spotted, as their good example is a rich inheritance for the rising generation.

Living or not Living.

Many whose lives appear to have been shortest, are destined to live the longest. As a man's life consists not in the abundance of his possessions, so also his age, according to the celestial arithmetic, consists not in the number of his days or years. One may have lived an hundred years, and yet not have lived at all. For all the good he has done to himself and others, he might as well have been a stone. He has left no enduring foot-prints behind; his life has been a failure, a blank. As "the child is father of the man"—as the virtues or vices that rule in youth are apt to control in mature manhood, so, also, the character we form in this life will follow us in the life to come. If we plough iniquity and sow wickedness, verily we shall reap the same.—Rev. Daniel Garver.

Godliness.

Godliness has a promise both for this life and for that which is to come. The child of God, under all of the sorrows of life, has a sure refuge. He knows that all things are working together for his good; that not one hair of his head shall perish unknown to his Heavenly Father. In the blessings of life, he sees them as links in an unbroken chain of divine love, and even temporal mercies afford to him an intenser satisfaction than they afford to the unbeliever. When trials come, he knows in whom he can find strength. When he thinks on his earthly future, he feels: "My times are in thy hand," and he would not wish for better keeping. As thoughts of eternity come, he beholds vista after vista of unearthly, unutterable, unfading bliss, stretching beyond the grave. He shall be with God, he shall enjoy God, he shall be like God.

The Lock.

A lock was shown to Gotthold, constructed of rings which were severally inscribed with certain letters, and could be turned round until the letters represented the name Jesus. It was only when the rings were disposed in this manner that the lock could be opened. The invention pleased him beyond measure, and he exclaimed, "Oh that I could put such a lock as this upon my heart!" Our hearts are already locked, no doubt, but generally with a lock of quite another kind. Many need only to hear the words gain, honor, pleasure, riches, revenge, and their hearts open in a moment; whereas to the Saviour and His holy name they continue shut. May the Lord Jesus engrave His name with His own finger upon our hearts, that they may remain closed to worldly joy and worldly pleasure, self-interest, fading honor, and low revenge, and open only to Him!—Scriber.

Lutherans in the World.

There are three millions of Lutheran population in Sweden, one and one-half millions in Norway, two millions in Denmark, the Faroe Islands, Iceland and Greenland; one million in France, twenty-five millions in the various Germanic States and principalities, five millions in Prussia, though by State enactment mostly conjoined in one national church with the Reformed; one and one-half millions in Austria, Hungary, Bohemia and Moravia; one million or more in Poland and Russia, one and one-half millions in the United States and Canada, one million in the West India Islands and Australasia, one-half a million in Brazil and other parts of South America, besides large Lutheran populations and churches in other regions and localities. These would run up to some forty or fifty millions in all.

The readers may have already learned that their church is the largest Protestant denomination in the world—about as large as all the rest put together. Your church is also established in more countries, and preaches the Gospel in more languages, than can be claimed for any other Protestant church. No church in the world can lay claim to so much learning and authorship as yours can. Christians of all other names are every day learning from the books and lips of her learned men. She can point to thousands of men and women who have been eminent for piety and zeal not surpassed anywhere else. The record of her missionaries and martyrs, who have labored and suffered for Jesus and His Gospel, is admired and cherished the world over.

These things should not make you proud or boasting, but thankful that the Lord has given you a place in this great and good church. Learn to love your church, and cling to her as long as you live. Show by a pure and active life that her teachings are the holy truths of the Bible; and by such a life you will honor the Lord of the church and confer blessings on men.

ABIDING CONFIDENCE.—In the last will and testament of Dr. Martin Luther, the eminent Reformer, occurs the following remarkable passage:—“Lord God, I thank Thee, for that Thou hast been pleased to make me a poor and indigent man upon the earth. I have neither house, nor land, nor money, to leave behind. Thou hast given me wife and children, whom I now restore to Thee. Lord, nourish, teach, and preserve them, as Thou hast me.” May many hearts now be inspired by this prominent example of unwavering faith in the Lord!

“THIS Commandment, then, of love is both a short commandment and a long commandment; it is a single commandment and many commandments; it is no commandment and all the commandments.”—Luther.

He Doeth all Things Well.

A little girl was one day working at her worsted—and children should be taught to be busy at something, even though it be but play. A stranger came into the parlor, and, as he looked at her, said, with an apparent sneer: “My dear, what is that you are doing? I see nothing but tangled webs and confused knots.” She looked up archly into his face, and replied: “You are looking on the wrong side: look at the right side;” and she turned it over, and there it was, a beautiful figure of a flower. Oh! my friends, how confused we are, just looking on the wrong side! When God takes us up higher, where the apostle stood when he said, “Nothing shall be able to separate us from the love of God,” and we can look down on the right side, then we shall see the lines of beauty, harmony, and sweetness; and when we join the immortal throng,

“This note above the rest shall swell,
My Saviour hath done all things well.”

FEVER AND AGUE.—A certain writer maintains that the miasma occasioning this disease may be rendered harmless by cultivating, between the marsh and the dwelling, a belt of sunflowers, hops, or any other high plant which will be growing vigorously at the season when the vegetable decay in the low grounds commences, and thus absorb and utilize the poison.

“WHEN mother says No, there's no Yes in it.” Here's a sermon in a nutshell. Multitudes of parents say “No,” but after a good deal of teasing and debate, it finally becomes “Yes.” Love and kindness are essential elements in the successful management of children; but firmness, decision, inflexibility, and uniformity of treatment are no less important.

A CLEAR REASON.—The reason why we find so many dark places in the Bible is, for the most part, because there are so many dark places in our hearts. It belongs to the nature of this Book, that it was written for all men of every time, and for all the experiences of each single human heart.—Dr. Tholuck.

THERE are many fruits which never turn sweet until the frost has lain on them. There are many nuts that never fall from the boughs of the forest trees until the frost has opened and ripened them. And there are many elements of life that never grow sweet and beautiful until sorrow touches them.

MYSTERY.—In the mysteries of religion, for well-regulated minds, there is always to be found an explanation sufficient for faith, but never as much as is necessary for comprehension. The what it is is sufficient for us; but the how is beyond our comprehension, and is not at all necessary for us.—Leibnitz.
